

Everybody Dies

suddenly the water turns a crimson shade of red flies and snakes are crawling, gnawing on the rotting dead infecting people with disease i want them begging on their knees locust cloud comin' down all around and i'm laughing at their pleas

tonight everybody dies
i hear the screaming in the night i'm so sick of all their lies i gave a chance but no-one tried at last i kill the children and i watch their mothers cry but now you'll have to feel my wrath beneath my blackened skies deadly douses, slaughterhouses, poisoned gluttony fleas and lice infest the night, the people pray to me

i'm so sick of all their lies
