

Tired

so tired, i don't think i can run anymore
i know that i can't give in to what they want me to do
so tired, i don't think i can run anymore
i know that i can't give in to what they want me to do

once i had an angel
it seemed always around
once i had an angel
but that angel let me down that night it was so different than any that i've had now i lost just what i needed i don't care what's good or bad

so tired, i don't think i can run anymore
i know i can't give in to what they want me to do

once i had a demon
that demon was always there
once i had a demon
and that demon he didn't care that night it was similar like any that i've had now i lost just what i wanted
i don't care what's good or bad

so tired, i don't think i can run anymore
i know that i can't give in to what they want me to do